

How To Change The Filter In Your Hot Tub

Changing the filter in your hot tub is essential to routine maintenance to ensure clean and healthy water. Follow these steps to replace your hot tub filter.

Materials Needed

- New hot tub filter (compatible with your hot tub model)
- Hose or filter cleaning tool
- Owner's manual (for reference)

Step 1: Turn Off the Hot Tub

Before starting the filter replacement process, ensure the hot tub is turned off and not actively heating or filtering.

Step 2: Locate the Filter Housing

The filter housing is typically in your hot tub's equipment compartment near the pump and heater. Consult your owner's manual for its exact location if needed.

Step 3: Remove the Old Filter

Carefully unscrew or unclip the old filter from its housing. Be cautious, as the old filter may be dirty or contain debris. Dispose of the old filter properly.

Step 4: Clean the Filter Housing

Inspect the filter housing for any debris or dirt. Use a hose or a filter cleaning tool to remove any buildup, ensuring it's clean and free of obstructions.

Step 5: Install the New Filter

Insert the new filter into the housing. Ensure that it is properly seated and secure. Follow any manufacturer's guidelines regarding the direction of installation.

Step 6: Close the Housing

Securely fasten the housing cover or lid to protect the filter and properly enclosed.

Step 7: Turn the Hot Tub On

You can turn the hot tub back on once the new filter is in place and the housing is securely closed. Follow the instructions in your owner's manual for restarting the system.

Step 8: Check for Leaks

Watch for any leaks around the filter housing and ensure that it is functioning properly. If you notice any leaks, turn off the hot tub and recheck the filter installation.

Step 9: Monitor Water Quality

After changing the filter, monitor the water quality and make any necessary adjustments to the chemicals or water balance in your hot tub. Regularly check the filter for signs of wear and tear and replace it according to your manufacturer's recommendations.

Conclusion

Regularly changing your hot tub filter is essential for maintaining clean and clear water. Following these steps will help ensure that your hot tub continues to operate at its best.
